Description

The files named "Begreppsdata" contain documentation of analysis of the concepts patriot, royalist, conservative and liberal in a source category consisting of:

- 1) Swedish parliamentary protocols from the period 1778–1830,
- 2) Texts from Swedish newspapers 1778–1848,
- 3) Entries in dictionaries and texts from books, newspapers and letters from the period 1778–1848.

The data is divided into reference, author, semasiology, onomasiology, counterconcept, semantic field, connotation, illocutionary force, directive function, classification of sender, classification of recipient, classification of other relevant political actor, genre, conceptual conflict, word form, Collingwood's question, performative force and performative tendency. Exceptions are dictionaries and lexicons where the information contains definitions divided into word forms. The Readme file provides an outline of these concepts.

The file "Övergripande sammanställningar" consists of quantitative data on use of the concept of liberal, divided into different categories, depending on type of word form, type of semantic field and analysis of type of use. The data covers the time between 1802–1831. The sources are the files "Begreppsdata svenska tidningar" and "Begreppsdata riksdagstryck".
