Description

REBUS-93 meant that data collected on the work, leisure and family situation of the REBUS survey 1969/70, together with retroactively collected information on physical and psychosocial working conditions for the years 1970 to 1993 could be tested as independent factors for musculoskeletal morbidity, mental symptoms and low functionality 24 years later, i.e. a lifetime perspective could be put on found relationships.

Purpose:

The purpose of REBUS-93 was to identify risk factors for musculoskeletal disorders, mental symptoms and low physical function.
